

BIOMEDICAL
CENTER

Ph.D. Positions in Cancer Genomics

Opening now at Faculty of Medicine in Pilsen,
Charles University, Czech Republic

Biomedical Center, Faculty of Medicine in Pilsen, Charles University, is seeking students for the following Ph.D. study topics in the doctoral study programme of Experimental Surgery:

Immune markers in progression of colorectal cancer

Tutor: Prof. Kari Hemminki, Ph.D. (kari.hemminki@lfp.cuni.cz)

Telomere dysfunction in progression to colorectal cancer

Tutor: Prof. Kari Hemminki, Ph.D. (kari.hemminki@lfp.cuni.cz)

Epigenetic regulation in colorectal carcinogenesis

Tutor: Pavel Vodička, Ph.D. (pavel.vodicka@iem.cas.cz)

Mapping of genomic instability in colorectal carcinogenesis

Tutor: Pavel Vodička, Ph.D. (pavel.vodicka@iem.cas.cz)

Tumor heterogeneity in colorectal carcinogenesis

Tutor: Veronika Vymetálková, Ph.D. (veronika.vymetalkova@iem.cas.cz)

In case of interest, please contact the appropriate tutor at least two weeks before the application deadline.

Application deadline: November 30, 2020

Online application and information: <https://is.cuni.cz/studium/eng/prijimacky/>

Contact: Daniela Vyzrálová | daniela.vyzralova@lfp.cuni.cz

Tel: +420 377 593 466, +420 773 768 811

Department of Science and Research

Charles University, Faculty of Medicine in Pilsen

